

I would much rather see the whole digital TV plan canceled than see possession of receiving equipment made illegal. If Hollywood doesn't want their digital content copied, let them keep it secret. It is that simple. No one makes them broadcast it. They shouldn't get free service from government -- prohibition of behavior which only they want prohibited -- while seriously curtailing the public's liberty. Let them go out of business if they can't find a way to make money in the new environment.
